

This is the iText logo. I've used Textwrap and the text that is added to the document after adding the image is wrapped to the right of the image.